

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

September 24, 2026

Hiring Team, EasyEcom

Your posting asks for someone who works across Sales, Product, Customer Success, Finance, Marketing and Operations, and turns that cross-functional mess into business reports, dashboards and performance reviews the founders can act on. At Sensata I built exactly that: the Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard that ranked 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target, then used it to recover $700K+ in margin in two quarters.

The dashboard was only half the job. Raising distributor and channel-partner margins from 53% to 61% meant coordinating a cross-functional program end to end, aligning Finance on the model, Sales on what a partner would accept, and senior executives on the AP26 revenue models and customer quotes that carried the numbers into the room. That is the same idea-to-implementation ownership your posting describes for special projects.

I bring the same operating discipline to my own company today. At PriceKeel I run CRM, CPQ, forecast reviews and deal approvals end to end, built a guardrail engine and audit trail from a blank page, and I am comfortable with ambiguity because building a company from nothing is ambiguity by definition. At Applied Materials I automate repetitive analysis with Claude AI agents, the same process-and-automation instinct your posting names directly.

What I would bring to EasyEcom's founder's office is someone who has already taken a fuzzy cross-functional problem to a measured, defensible number, in a high-growth commerce-adjacent business. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/easyecom.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar