Hiring Team, Voice Arena

At Sensata I turned competitive benchmarking across 10+ industrial players into $700K of recovered margin in two quarters and a 12% lift in year-over-year revenue, then built the FY2026 dashboard that tracked 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target. Growth for a company built around benchmarks is the same instinct at a different layer: find where the number is soft, build the system that proves it, then move it. That is the seat I want at Voice Arena.

Before that I ran the paid stack at Plug Power on a $100K a month budget across multiple business units, cut CPA 25% through bid and creative testing, then automated the WordPress to Pardot lead flow to cut cost per lead 50%. At Pixis I hired and managed an 8-person team across 8 client accounts, cut churn 50% and got 3x ROAS in a month for one brand's full funnel. Earlier, at GenY Medium, I rebuilt Google Merchant Center and Meta catalog feeds and got 16x ROAS for D2C brands. That is a full-funnel growth stack, paid, lifecycle and SEO, run on real budgets with a P&L attached.

I also carry the operating side of a growth seat: hiring and managing teams, owning P&L and revenue targets, and running the leadership decks and OKR cadence that keep a budget honest quarter over quarter, most recently while founding PriceKeel and carrying P&L targets at Applied Materials. I automate the repetitive parts of that reporting cycle with AI agents built on Claude, which matters more at a company whose product is a live benchmark than almost anywhere else I have worked.

What I would bring on day one is a growth motion built around proof, not just spend: paid and lifecycle channels that compound, pricing and packaging instincts to fix the economics behind them, and a reporting habit that turns a benchmark into a growth lever instead of a dashboard.
