PITCH DECK | CREDGENICS FOUNDER'S OFFICE

A Founder's Office seat built on strategic bets, investor materials and SQL-backed dashboards needs someone who already runs all three, not three separate hires.

A record of turning an unowned, cross-domain mandate into a revenue bet, an investor narrative and a measured outcome, built running a company of my own and inside a multi-$100M business.

- Founder & CEO of PriceKeel, running investor relations and fundraising for its first round myself
- $700K+ / 2 quarters margin recovered off a SQL/Power BI dashboard I built
- 1,200 opportunities / $627M target Bleeders and Leakers dashboard across 3 regions, 20 product lines
- 53% to 61% distributor and channel-partner margins, built on new partnerships
- $2M+ Year 1 revenue from a new-product GTM across North America and Europe

WHY THIS DECK EXISTS

A Founder's Office seat does not arrive with a clean lane. The job is picking the right domain each week, then closing it out with a number.

What that actually requires

Evaluating new revenue streams, running the market research behind them, and weighing potential acquisition targets or partnerships without a clean mandate.

Supporting investor communication, preparing the investor updates and board materials the Founder's capital conversations depend on.

Designing scalable operating processes and performance metrics, while helping sales leadership with planning, pipeline management and incentive design.

What I have already run, at that exact layer

Took the Bleeders and Leakers program at Sensata from a vague mandate to a $433M shortlist and $700K+ recovered, negotiated with senior executives in 2 quarters.

Founded PriceKeel and personally run its investor relations and fundraising, writing the investor updates and board materials its first round depends on.

Built the CRM, CPQ and deal-approval process and the SQL-backed dashboards that fed sales-planning and pipeline conversations with leadership.

The through-line: I have already built the revenue bet, the investor narrative and the SQL-backed dashboard this seat asks for, before anyone called it a Founder's Office job.

THE REQ, MAPPED

What the Credgenics Founder's Office opening asks for, and where the proof already sits.

What the role covers

Strategic initiatives: evaluating new revenue streams, market research, and assessing acquisition targets or partnerships.

Investor relations: supporting investor communication, preparing investor updates and board materials.

Business operations: designing and improving scalable operating processes and performance metrics.

Sales excellence and dashboards: improving sales planning, pipeline management and incentive design; building dashboards with SQL and BI tools.

My proof

Strategic initiatives: as Founder and CEO of PriceKeel, personally evaluates new revenue layers (a guardrail engine, now a margin layer) and runs the market research behind each one.

Investor relations: runs investor relations and fundraising for PriceKeel's first round personally, writing the investor updates and board materials it depends on.

Business operations: built the CRM, CPQ, deal-approval process and SQL-backed audit trail from zero, the same operating-process and performance-metrics design this scope asks for.

Sales excellence and dashboards: built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard, feeding sales-planning and pipeline conversations with Sensata leadership across 3 regions and 20 product lines.

THE PROOF, IN DEPTH

Bleeders and Leakers: a vague margin mandate turned into a SQL-backed dashboard and a negotiated number.

Built as the owner of a program with no existing dashboard, no existing owner and no existing partner relationships, the same starting point a founder's "figure this out" priority usually looks like.

$433M / 1,200

Shortlist Built

1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target, surfaced for leadership to prioritize by salesperson and product line.

$700K+ / 2Q

Margin Recovered

Negotiated from competitive gaps and customer willingness to pay, direct with senior executives.

53% to 61%

Partner Margin Lift

Built the distributor and channel-partner relationships that made repricing possible in under 2 quarters.

The same instinct runs through PriceKeel: build the dashboard, the partnership and the investor narrative first, so the business keeps producing the number without someone re-doing the work every quarter.

FIRST 30 DAYS

What the first month inside Credgenics's Founder's Office would look like.

WEEK 1

Sit inside the real signal

Talk to the Founder, sales leadership and finance to find where a revenue bet, an investor update or a sales-planning question is stalling today, the same audit that grounded the Bleeders and Leakers program before a dashboard existed.

Why first: a cross-domain mandate built on assumptions instead of real blockers is the fastest way to miss the mark.

WEEK 2-3

Ship the first dashboard or brief

Take one cross-functional problem, whether a partnership to evaluate, an investor update to draft or a sales-pipeline question, and deliver a SQL-backed, decision-ready recommendation, the same move that turned 1,200 opportunities into one shortlist at Sensata.

Why now: one measured recommendation that moves a real decision beats a week-one list of ideas.

WEEK 4

Turn the first win into the cadence

Use what the first deliverable proved to set the recurring rhythm, be it an investor-update cadence, a performance-metrics review or a sales-planning checkpoint, that keeps producing results without rebuilding it from scratch every cycle.

Why this fast: a cadence only earns trust once it has already moved one real decision.

CLOSE

Credgenics needs someone who treats this seat as four live domains, strategy, investor relations, operations and sales excellence, not one job description. I have already run all four.

The core proof is Sensata and PriceKeel together: a $700K+ margin program built on a SQL-backed dashboard, and a company of my own where I run investor relations and fundraising while building the CRM, CPQ and deal-approval process myself.

What is harder to find is someone who has done that inside a large, multi-region business and founded their own company around the same discipline of turning ambiguity into a dashboard, a partnership or a raise, with the sales-planning and performance-metrics work to make it stick. That combination is what a Founder's Office needs most.
