Hiring Team, Google

Your posting asks for someone who can develop global content strategies, draft messaging frameworks, and build executive-level presentations and customer success stories, while planning cross-functional programs with senior leadership and external partners. At Sensata I owned end-to-end content strategy and GTM for new sensing products across North America and Europe, turning 30+ OEM and distributor interviews into customer success stories and launch messaging that drove $2M+ in first-year revenue.

The cross-functional, senior-leadership side of this role is where I think my background lines up most directly. I drove alignment with senior executives on AP26 revenue models and multimillion-dollar customer quotes at Sensata, and I raised distributor and channel-partner margins from 53% to 61% across 3 regions, work that depended on the same partner-facing coordination this req describes. I also shipped sales enablement and executive decks for 50+ reps, lifting win rates 30%.

What I think fits this seat specifically is the combination of content craft and operating discipline. I carry P&L and revenue targets at every stop, so a narrative is never separated from the business result it has to support, and I build competitive, value-based pricing at Applied Materials today while using AI productivity tools built on Claude to streamline the recurring parts of that work, the exact preferred qualification your req lists.

I would like to bring that combination of content strategy and cross-functional execution to Google Cloud's Global Partner Marketing team. Proof trail at adhi-product-ai.vercel.app/ref/google.
