

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

September 26, 2026

Hiring Team, PagerDuty

Your posting frames this seat as the strategic backbone bridging sales strategy, financial predictability and rep motivation, and that intersection of Sales, Finance and HR is exactly where I've spent the last year. At Sensata I built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard tracking 1,200 pipeline opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions and 20 product lines, with win rate, average dollar-per-win and stage distribution broken out by salesperson, the same performance-analytics framework this role needs to identify underperformance and top behaviors.

The forecasting half is just as familiar. I partnered with senior executives on Sensata's AP26 revenue models and multimillion-dollar customer quotes, the kind of input a weekly and quarterly forecasting cadence runs on, and I own the same discipline today running CRM, CPQ, forecast and pipeline reviews and deal approvals as founder of PriceKeel. I built the guardrail engine behind those approvals from closed-won and closed-lost deal data, so I understand what it takes to make a compensation or discount decision defensible under audit rather than just fast.

You're also asking for someone who partners well across Sales Leadership and Finance without losing the analytical rigor, and that cross-functional posture is how I've operated at every stop: driving +12% YoY revenue and +8% market share at Sensata through price-realignment decisions built on competitive benchmarking, and automating recurring analysis work with Claude-built agents as Strategic Marketing III at Applied Materials so the numbers are ready before the meeting, not scrambled together during it.

I'd welcome the chance to talk through how that dashboard and forecasting work translates to PagerDuty's commission-plan and QBR cadence. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/pagerduty.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar