Hiring Team, Hover

At Sensata I built the sales content system from nothing, decks and case studies that 50+ reps actually carried into the field, lifting win rates 30%. That content worked because it answered a specific buyer's objection, in this case an OEM engineer's, the same buyer-journey discipline this role needs across homeowners, contractors and insurance professionals.

The campaign and SEO side runs just as deep. At Plug Power I raised organic search visibility 35% by closing keyword-strategy gaps and building content partnerships, then automated the lead flow to cut cost per lead 50%, tying content directly to pipeline. At Sensata I ran integrated email and paid campaigns tied to revenue goals, generating +35% qualified leads, and ran 30+ customer interviews that fed straight into what I wrote next.

I also stay current with AI-assisted content tools in practice, not in theory: I automate repetitive content and reporting work with Claude agents at Applied Materials, and I shipped an AI product, SwipeHire, writing its content and positioning myself from a blank page.
