SUMMARY

Product marketer who sizes the semiconductor market and builds value-based pricing that forecasts its inflection points at Applied Materials. That market-opportunity and pricing discipline is the same this role asks for, now applied across multiple product groups. Owned the full product lifecycle for a new Sensata hardware line end to end (market evaluation, collateral, launch, post-launch optimization) to $2M+ first-year revenue, then recovered $700K+ in margin pricing that same technical portfolio. Automates recurring market and pricing analysis with AI agents built on Claude. Translates deep technical detail into buyer-facing value on every launch. MS in Marketing Analytics, Simon Business School.
