Hiring Team, Haus & Kinder

Your posting asks for one CEO dashboard that tracks revenue, contribution margin, CAC, repeat rate and inventory health across D2C, marketplace, quick-commerce and B2B channels. I built the equivalent of that at Sensata: a Power BI dashboard covering 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions and 20 product lines, with win rate, stage distribution and regional scorecards clean enough for leadership to act on without re-checking the source. That dashboard surfaced $433M in margin gaps, and running the negotiations it flagged recovered $700K plus in two quarters.

As founder of PriceKeel I run the planning cadence you're describing on myself every week: turn an ambiguous pricing problem into an execution plan with owners and milestones, build the guardrail engine and audit trail Finance can trust instead of taking my word for it, then write the board materials and run the fundraising for the company's first round as the only person in the room. That's the Chief of Staff job, just with the CEO title attached too.

I've also carried the channel-economics half of this role. At Pixis I owned P&L for 8 D2C client accounts, each on media budgets of $15K to $90K a month, running retail media on Amazon Ads and Criteo and cutting churn 50% through account strategy and channel diversification. Pair that with turning ambiguous input from Sales, Engineering and Accounts into one shared market view at Applied Materials, and shaping AP26 revenue models directly with Sensata's senior executives, and the shop-floor-to-boardroom range this role asks for is ground I already work on.
