Hiring Team, MIRAGGIO

At Pixis I ran retail media and paid social for an 8-client D2C portfolio, budgets of $15K to $90K a month per client, and one of the harder problems was never the media buy itself, it was keeping a brand's full funnel honest: feed hygiene, bidding, creative and retention all pulling in the same direction. I rebuilt that funnel for a fashion brand and got 3x ROAS in a month, then held the account for a year while cutting churn 50% across the portfolio through account strategy, channel diversification and retention playbooks built by vertical. A Head of Growth role for a D2C brand is that same problem at company scale, and it is the one I want next.

Before Pixis I ran Google Ads, Meta and LinkedIn spend at Plug Power on a $100K a month budget, cut CPA 25% through bid and creative testing, then automated the WordPress to Pardot lead flow to cut cost per lead 50%. Earlier, at GenY Medium, I rebuilt Google Merchant Center and Meta catalog feeds and got 16x ROAS for D2C e-commerce brands. That is the paid, SEO and lifecycle stack your posting describes, run for brands that lived and died by acquisition efficiency and repeat purchase, not by brand awareness alone.

I also carry the operating side of a growth seat. I have hired and managed teams, owned P&L and revenue targets, and built the leadership decks and OKR cadence that keep a budget honest between quarters, most recently while founding PriceKeel and carrying P&L targets at Applied Materials. I automate the repetitive parts of that reporting cycle with AI agents built on Claude, so more of the week goes to the calls that actually move ROAS and retention.

What I would bring on day one is a full-funnel read on D2C growth, acquisition and retention together, plus the pricing and packaging instincts to fix the unit economics behind a channel mix, not just the channel mix itself. Proof trail at adhi-growth.vercel.app/ref/miraggio.
