Hiring Team, Valarr

Your posting asks for someone who can spot where a team's process breaks down and set up the workflow, SOP or dashboard that fixes it. That is the exact trade I run at PriceKeel: I built the investor pipeline and data room myself, stood up the CRM/CPQ workflows and deal-approval process from zero, and I am raising the first round and running every pilot as the one person behind all of it.

The financial and operational analysis half of this role is not new ground either. At Sensata I built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard, scoring 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions and 20 product lines, then turned that into $700K plus recovered in two quarters by negotiating directly with distributors and channel partners. I would rather hand a founder a number that moved than a deck that only describes the problem.

Market research and competitor benchmarking are also familiar ground. On a market-sizing project for Safran, I led a 5-consultant team from 170 facilities down to a SAM of 28 and presented the entry case straight to their leadership. At Pixis I ran the same kind of process fix on the customer side: rebuilding account playbooks across 8 D2C client accounts cut churn 50%, and I reported those results and recommendations directly to senior management, the bridge between a team and its leadership your posting describes.

I would like to talk about what the first 90 days of this seat look like at Valarr, starting with whichever founder-priority project is stuck right now. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/valarr.
