Hiring Team, Stepful,

Stepful is using lifecycle communication to drive student behavior, engagement, and outcomes - the kind of work where marketing is genuinely a product surface, not a separate function. I have built this exact kind of program before, on smaller scale, and would take real pride in scaling it for healthcare learners.

What I have shipped that maps directly:

- GenY D2C lifecycle: Built cart abandonment, post-purchase, and re-engagement flows on Klaviyo + Shopify for a D2C consumer brand. 2x lift on email-attributed revenue per send. Win/loss interviews drove a 25% lift in customer acquisition rate and a 36% lift in B2B conversion on a separate funnel optimization engagement.
- Plug Power MarTech rebuild: Full lifecycle architecture on HubSpot + Salesforce + Adobe + GA4 + GTM. Personalized nurture sequences lifted MQL to SQL conversion across priority product lines.
- SwipeHire (founded solo): Built activation lifecycle on Python + OpenAI + React (app.swipehire.io). 8+ A/B tests on onboarding and matching flows lifted activation 25%. I think about lifecycle as a product experience first, comms second.

Behavior-first research: At Sensata I ran 30+ structured customer interviews; insights drove product roadmap and lifted CSAT +22% and feature adoption +18% across 50K+ devices. I treat lifecycle as "what got the customer stuck and what unsticks them," not just "send more email."

I am Boston-based and US-remote works. The NYC office cadence is fine if needed.

Looking forward to talking.
