

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

October 1, 2026

Hiring Team, Brex

Your posting asks for someone who turns a joint business plan into measured pipeline, not a slide that sits in a shared drive. I have run that exact loop on the channel side: at Sensata I took distributor and channel-partner margins from 53% to 61% in under two quarters by repricing parts sold through distribution, work that only holds up if the forecast, the partner conversation and the P&L number all agree with each other.

Before that I owned the GTM for a new sensing product line launched through North America and Europe, positioning, pricing, channel and launch together, which drove $2M+ in first-year revenue. The 50+ reps selling it needed playbooks they would actually open, not a binder, so I built the sales enablement decks and case studies myself and watched win rates move 30%. I also sat with 30+ OEMs and distributors directly to find where the partner motion was breaking, which is the same instinct your posting calls commercial judgment.

Co-marketing programs live or die on whether the ROI story is credible when finance reads it. At Plug Power I owned $100K/month budgets across multiple business units and built the forecasts that leadership actually approved, then closed the loop on the Salesforce and Adobe Analytics stack so every dollar traced back to a result. I now automate that same reporting cycle at Applied Materials with AI agents built on Claude, which is the habit I would bring to a partner portfolio at Brex: less time reconciling spreadsheets, more time in the room with the partner.

I would like to bring the channel-margin discipline from Sensata and the enablement work that moved 50+ reps to Brex's partner marketing motion. Proof trail at adhi-product-ai.vercel.app/ref/brex.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar