

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

October 10, 2026

Hiring Team, Abbott

Your posting for the Structural Heart Global Strategy team describes a specific loop: turn raw financial files, competitor pipelines and market signals into one strategic narrative an executive audience can act on. I ran that loop at Sensata, where I built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard, ranking 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions, 4 product families and 20 product lines, then surfaced $433M in margin gaps for leadership to prioritize. The dashboard was the easy part. Translating it into a story account teams and executives could act on, and then closing $700K+ of it in two quarters, is the part your req is actually asking for.

The competitive intelligence side of this role is not new to me either. I benchmarked 10+ competitors to shape the pricing and go to market plan behind a +8% market share and +12% YoY revenue gain, and before that, I ran a 5-consultant market sizing project for Safran, taking 170 facilities down to a SAM of 28 and presenting the financial feasibility of market entry directly to their leadership. At Applied Materials now, I size a fast-moving semiconductor market with Sales, Engineering and Accounts, building the kind of cross-functional market view your posting asks for across R&D, Commercial, Regulatory and Finance.

What I think fits this specific seat is the combination of financial fluency and storytelling. I carry P&L and revenue targets at every stop, so a model is never built in isolation from the number it is supposed to move, and I have spent the last year building leadership decks and running weekly and quarterly business reviews, the same cadence a strategic goals planning process runs on. I also automate the recurring parts of that analysis with AI agents built on Claude, which is the kind of habit that keeps a market intelligence function fast instead of buried in manual updates during a tight deadline.

I would like to bring that combination to the Structural Heart team: someone who has already turned competitor and financial data into a number leadership acted on, and who builds the executive-ready story around it instead of stopping at the chart. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/abbott.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar