Hiring Team, Peak XV Partners

Your posting says the founder needs someone to solve cross-functional problems that have no clear owner, and that is the job I already do at PriceKeel: I set up the company's CRM, CPQ, forecast and pipeline reviews and deal approvals myself, with no playbook and no one to hand the ambiguous parts to. I am also the one holding the investor conversations while we raise our first round, which means I build the financial narrative and answer the hard questions directly rather than route them through a finance team I do not have.

Before PriceKeel, I led global pricing strategy for Sensata's Industrial BU, where I partnered with senior executives on AP26 revenue models and multimillion-dollar customer quotes, then built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard tracking 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target, surfacing $433M in margin gaps for leadership to prioritize by region and product line, and recovering $700K+ in margin in two quarters. That program started as an internal-efficiency problem nobody owned and ended as a strategic, sales-facing initiative leadership funded; I separately owned GTM for a new sensing product line that drove $2M+ in first-year revenue, so the sales and commercial side of this role is not new territory either.

I carry the operating rhythm side too: P&L and revenue targets at Applied Materials and Sensata, leadership decks, OKRs run on weekly and quarterly business reviews, and teams I have hired and managed directly. I automate the repetitive parts of that reporting cycle with AI agents built on Claude, so more of the week goes to the judgment calls a Founder's Office seat is actually for.

What I would bring on day one is comfort with fieldwork and ambiguity over a polished playbook, and the financial modeling depth to turn a messy problem into a number the founder can act on. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/peak-xv-partners.
