

PITCH DECK | ZAMP FOUNDER'S OFFICE, STRATEGY & OPERATIONS

A seat that spans strategy, partnerships, fundraising and customer experience needs someone who already runs all four at once, not four separate hires.

A record of turning an unowned, cross-domain mandate into partnerships, a fundraising narrative and a measured outcome, built running a company of my own and inside a multi-$100M business.

53% to 61% distributor and channel-partner margins, built on new strategic alliances

$700K+ / 2 quarters margin recovery, from a vague mandate to a negotiated outcome

PriceKeel founder and CEO, running investor relations and fundraising for its first round

$2M+ Year 1 revenue from a market entry across North America and Europe

5-consultant team led end to end on a market-entry study, presented to Safran leadership

A Founder's Office seat does not arrive with a clean lane. The job is picking the right domain each week, then closing it out.

What that actually requires

Moving across strategy, operations, finance and partnerships in the same week, without waiting for someone else to hand over a clean mandate first.

Cultivating strategic partnerships and alliances, and carrying real weight in investor relations and fundraising conversations the Founder is already running.

Supporting global expansion and market entry into new regions, while contributing to talent acquisition and keeping customer experience and satisfaction on the agenda.

What I have already run, at that exact layer

Took the Bleeders and Leakers program at Sensata from a vague mandate to a $433M shortlist and $700K+ recovered, negotiated with senior executives in 2 quarters.

Built the distributor and channel-partner relationships behind a margin lift from 53% to 61%, while founding PriceKeel and running its investor relations and fundraising myself.

Owned GTM and market entry for new products across North America and Europe, and hired and managed teams at every stop, from Pixis to SwipeHire.

The through-line: I have already built the partnerships, the fundraising narrative and the market-entry playbook this seat asks for, before anyone called it a Founder's Office job.

What the Zamp Founder's Office opening asks for, and where the proof already sits.

What the role covers

- "Strategic Partnerships and Alliances: Identify and cultivate strategic partnerships and alliances that align with the company's goals and vision."*
- "Investor Relations and Fundraising: Assist in managing investor relations and fundraising activities and working closely with the Founder."*
- "Global Expansion and Market Entry: Support the Founder in exploring and executing global expansion strategies, including market entry into new countries and regions."*
- "Customer Experience and Satisfaction: Working closely with the customer service and product teams to understand customer needs and feedback."*

My proof

- Strategic partnerships and alliances: raised distributor and channel-partner margins from 53% to 61% in under 2 quarters by building the relationships that made repricing possible.
- Investor relations and fundraising: founded PriceKeel and personally manage investor relations and fundraising for its first round while running early customer pilots.
- Global expansion and market entry: owned GTM for new sensing products across North America and Europe, and led a 5-consultant market-entry study presented to Safran leadership.
- Customer experience and satisfaction: ran 30+ customer interviews with OEMs and distributors that fed fixes behind a 22-point CSAT lift, and cut Pixis client churn 50%.

Bleeders and Leakers: a vague margin mandate to a negotiated number, built on the same partnerships this seat needs.

Built as the owner of a program with no existing dashboard, no existing owner and no existing partner relationships, the same starting point a founder's "figure this out" priority usually looks like.

$700K+ / 2Q

Margin Recovered

Negotiated from competitive gaps and customer willingness to pay, against a $627M target.

53% to 61%

Partner Margin Lift

Built the distributor and channel-partner relationships that made repricing possible in under 2 quarters.

$2M+ Year 1

Market-Entry Revenue

GTM, positioning, pricing and channel for a new product line entering North America and Europe.

The same instinct runs through PriceKeel: build the partnership, the investor narrative and the operating cadence first, so the business keeps producing the number without someone re-doing the work every quarter.

What the first month inside Zamp's Founder's Office would look like.

WEEK 1 Sit inside the real signal Talk to the Founder, partnerships, finance and customer-facing teams to find where strategy, fundraising or customer experience work is stalling today, the same audit that grounded the Bleeders and Leakers program before a dashboard existed. Why first: a cross-domain mandate built on assumptions instead of real blockers is the fastest way to miss the mark.	WEEK 2-3 Ship the first partnership or brief Take one cross-functional problem, whether a partnership to close, an investor update to draft or a market-entry question, and deliver a decision-ready recommendation, the same move that turned 1,200 opportunities into one shortlist at Sensata. Why now: one measured recommendation that moves a real decision beats a week-one list of ideas.	WEEK 4 Turn the first win into the cadence Use what the first deliverable proved to set the recurring rhythm, be it a partnership pipeline, an investor-update cadence or a customer-feedback loop, that keeps producing results without rebuilding it from scratch every cycle. Why this fast: a cadence only earns trust once it has already moved one real decision.

CLOSE

Zamp needs someone who treats this seat as four live domains, not one job description. I have already run all four.

The core proof is Sensata and PriceKeel together: a $700K+ margin program built on new strategic partnerships, and a company of my own where I run investor relations and fundraising while running the CRM, CPQ and deal-approval process myself.

What is harder to find is someone who has done that inside a large, multi-region business and founded their own company around the same discipline of turning ambiguity into a partnership, a raise or a decision, with the market-entry and customer-experience work to make it stick. That combination is what a Founder's Office needs most.
