Hiring Team, Tivity Health

At Pixis I carried P&L and churn targets for an 8-client subscription portfolio and cut churn 50% through proactive account strategy, channel diversification and vertical playbooks. That is the retention work your posting names directly: CRM, onboarding, renewal, win-back and churn reduction. It is where I would start on the member subscription base, not as an add-on to acquisition but as the lever that makes the acquisition spend worth it.

The acquisition side maps just as closely to what I have already run. At Plug Power I owned $100K/month paid budgets across Google Ads, Microsoft Ads, Meta and LinkedIn Ads, and bid optimization plus A/B testing cut CPA 25%, the same budget-optimization work this role runs for ROAS and LTV:CAC on new memberships sold. At Sensata I ran full-funnel digital campaigns across email and paid channels that generated 35% more qualified leads, and built KPI frameworks in SQL and GA4 that surfaced high-intent cohorts for conversion-rate work alongside product teams, the audience segmentation and CRO this role runs with its Marketing Analytics team. Earlier, at Pixis, I also ran retail media and iOS app paid acquisition (Amazon Ads, Criteo, Appsflyer, Adjust) across an 8-client portfolio, which is the kind of channel breadth an omnichannel acquisition plan needs underneath it.

I already automate the reporting side of this job, too. At Applied Materials I built AI agents on Claude to cut the repetitive parts of forecasting and market analysis, the same growth-target and KPI-reporting cadence a Finance-and-Sales-facing growth seat runs on annual and quarterly plans.
