Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

October 16, 2026

Hiring Team, AWS

Your posting asks for someone who plans, executes and optimizes paid media day to day, not someone reviewing an agency's recap deck once a month. That is the job I had at Plug Power: I owned $100K/month in budget across Google Ads, Microsoft Ads, Meta and LinkedIn myself, ran the bid optimization and creative testing that cut CPA 25%, and automated the WordPress and Pardot lead flow so cost per lead dropped 50% without adding headcount.

Scaling that discipline across many accounts at once is the other half of this role, and I have run it. At Pixis, I hired and managed an 8-person team covering 8 client accounts with $15K-$90K in monthly paid spend each, cut churn 50% through account strategy instead of bigger budgets, and used Amplitude and Tableau closely enough across 30+ campaigns to lift ROAS 40%. One fashion account went from a flat funnel to 3x ROAS in a single month once I rebuilt the shopping feed, bidding and creative together instead of tweaking one lever at a time.

Consistent messaging across every asset is where most campaigns fall apart, so at Sensata I owned positioning end to end for new product launches across North America and Europe, ran the paid and email campaigns myself, and reported qualified-lead numbers straight to senior leadership every quarter. At Applied Materials now, I build the forecasting models and automate the reporting with AI agents on Claude instead of rebuilding the same analysis every cycle, the same instinct behind SwipeHire, an AI job-matching platform I built myself in Python and React that taught me how developers actually evaluate and trust a tool before they adopt it.

Proof trail at adhi-growth-ai.vercel.app/ref/aws.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar