Hiring Team, Freshworks

Your posting for the Freshservice platform asks for one thing above the rest: a single narrative that holds together across Product, Engineering, Sales and Customer Success while the platform's AI/ML capabilities keep shipping. I built that exact narrative at Sensata, owning end-to-end GTM for a new sensing product platform (positioning, pricing, channel, launch) that aligned Engineering and Sales around one message and drove $2M+ in first-year revenue with a network of OEM and distributor accounts.

The part of that job that breaks fastest is the handoff between teams, so I ran it myself: a 100+ feature backlog with Engineering in Agile across 3 regions to keep launch timing tight, and the sales enablement decks and case studies for 50+ reps that lifted win rates 30% once the field had one story instead of five. I also ran 30+ customer interviews with OEMs and distributors, the same discipline your posting calls customer insight gathering, and turned those pain points into product enhancements that raised CSAT 22%. I have spent my career translating technical products into positioning for the same kind of buyer that an ITSM and IT operations platform sells to, IT administrators and enterprise operators who need the operational case before they care about the feature.

On the AI/ML side, this is not a stretch for me, it is what I am doing right now. I founded PriceKeel, an AI-driven B2B SaaS pricing platform, and as Strategic Marketing III at Applied Materials I automate the repetitive side of market and competitive analysis with AI agents built on Claude, which keeps positioning current on products that move faster than a quarterly plan. That combination, an operator who has launched a platform end to end and someone who builds with AI rather than just markets around it, is what I would bring to Freshservice's positioning.

I would like to put that cross-functional launch record and the AI/ML fluency to work on Freshservice. Proof trail at adhi-product-ai.vercel.app/ref/freshworks.
