Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

November 1, 2026

Hiring Team, Whatnot

Your Strategy and Operations Manager posting asks for someone who can support the post-sales motion of a GTM org in SQL and Excel, then say it back to an executive in one clean sentence. That is the job I already run at PriceKeel, where I own CRM, CPQ, forecast and pipeline reviews, and deal approvals end to end, with an audit trail Finance can actually check.

The analytical half of the role is where I have the most to show. At Sensata I built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers pipeline in SQL-fed Power BI: 1,200 opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions, surfacing $433M in margin gaps by salesperson and product line for leadership to act on, and recovering $700K+ in margin in 2 quarters off the back of it. I also sat in the room for AP26 revenue models and multimillion-dollar customer quotes with senior Sensata executives, which is the executive-communication part of this role in practice, not theory.

The marketplace angle is not a stretch for me either. SwipeHire, the AI job-matching platform I built and shipped, is a two-sided marketplace matching candidates and employers, and at Pixis I carried P&L and revenue targets across an 8-client ad-platform portfolio with spend of $15K-$90K per client per month. Both taught me the same thing a livestream marketplace needs: one operating rhythm that still flexes seller by seller, buyer by buyer.

I came up through consulting-style project work before any of this (a pro-bono market-sizing and pricing engagement for Safran, run with a 5-person team), which is probably why I default to building the model first and the narrative second. That is the operator I would bring to Whatnot's post-sales motion. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/whatnot.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar