Hiring Team, Drata

Your posting opens with "own and operate core GTM systems," and that is, almost word for word, the job I already have at PriceKeel: I built and run the company's CRM and CPQ, its forecast and pipeline reviews, and its deal approvals, with an audit trail Finance can actually check. I did not inherit that system from someone else's cleanup project; I built it from a blank screen, which is the harder version of the same ask.

The analytics half of the role maps to a dashboard I already shipped. At Sensata I built the FY2026 Bleeders and Leakers Power BI dashboard, tracking 1,200 pipeline opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions, with win rate, avg $/win and stage distribution surfaced by salesperson. That dashboard is where $433M in margin gaps got found, and where I turned the findings into a 2-quarter program that recovered $700K+ and moved distributor margins from 53% to 61%. That is the "so what" instinct your posting asks for: find the number, then move it.

What I bring to this seat is the systems ownership, the pipeline analytics, and the pricing-workflow and deal-approval mechanics the role is built around, earned as a founder rather than inherited from a predecessor's cleanup list. I also automate the repetitive parts with Claude AI agents at Applied Materials, so the time goes into judgment calls instead of data entry, which is close to the agentic, AI-enabled work your team is building toward.

Happy to walk through the dashboard and the CRM/CPQ build live. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/drata.
