Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

November 8, 2026

Hiring Team, Otavo.ai

Your req asks for someone who has already solved a 0-to-1 problem and can build a partnerships engine from the Founder's Office outward. I am doing that right now at PriceKeel: I run the fundraising process for our first round myself, which means every week is a new founder, operator or investor conversation that has to turn into a decision brief and a next step, not just a nice meeting. That is the same muscle this role wants, building high-trust relationships with people who do not report to you and turning those relationships into something that moves the business.

Before PriceKeel, I built SwipeHire solo end to end: an AI job-matching platform with no team to hand pieces to, from PRD to 50+ early users, including the positioning and GTM decisions that come from talking to the ecosystem directly. I also know what it takes to turn a flagged opportunity into a signed outcome at scale: at Sensata I built and ran the Bleeders and Leakers program, moving 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target through to a $700K+ margin recovery in two quarters by rebuilding the actual commercial relationship with each partner account, not just the terms on paper.

I also carry the cross-functional side of this well. At Applied Materials I bridge Sales, Engineering and Accounts into one view for leadership, and I run the OKR cadence and leadership decks that keep that kind of work visible and accountable. That is the operating discipline a partnerships function needs once the relationships start paying off and someone has to build the process behind them.

I would like to bring that combination, founder-level relationship building plus the systems to scale it, to the Founder's Office at the company Otavo.ai is hiring for. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/otavo-ai.

Adhithya Rokhith Bhaskar