SUMMARY

Product manager who ships internal tools for non-technical, relationship-driven teams handling sensitive data end to end. At Sensata I owned the product roadmap and a 100+ feature backlog for sensor systems, shipping alongside engineering across 3 regions in Agile (releases 25% faster, time-to-market cut 20%), and ran 30+ discovery interviews that turned ambiguous stakeholder pain points into requirements that lifted CSAT 22%. I built the Power BI dashboard tracking 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target, surfacing $433M in margin gaps for Finance and Sales leadership to prioritize, and shaped multimillion-dollar customer quotes and revenue models directly with senior executives, the same high-trust work with sensitive commercial data. Now Strategic Marketing III at Applied Materials, running AI agents built on Claude to automate recurring analysis and carrying P&L targets across weekly and quarterly cross-functional reviews, the same high-trust cadence a16z's Frontiers needs to ship software for a relationship-driven group like GPX.
