Hiring Team, Anakin

Your posting is explicit that this is not a strategy-only or coordination-heavy seat, and that is exactly the kind of role I have been building for myself. I founded PriceKeel, a B2B SaaS pricing product, and I own it end to end: the guardrail engine's design, the CRM and CPQ configuration, and the pipeline that connects product decisions directly to GTM execution. There is no delegation layer between me and the work.

On the growth side, the number I can show you is a full-funnel fix, not a single-lever tweak. At Pixis I restructured a fashion brand's underperforming funnel, shopping feed cleanup, smart bidding, creative refresh, lookalike expansion, and delivered 3x ROAS in one month. At Plug Power I ran 15+ A/B tests across paid channels that cut CPA 25%, and automated the lead flow that cut cost per lead 50%.

The GTM and revenue-program half is where Sensata's Bleeders and Leakers program fits: I converted a vague margin mandate into a structured execution plan, 1,200 opportunities ranked against a $627M target, and drove it to $700K+ actually recovered in two quarters. SwipeHire is the closest analog to "product program ownership": I wrote the PRD, scoped the MVP, and shipped it to 50+ early users myself, the same 0-to-1 build this role names directly.

I would welcome the chance to walk through how I would spend my first 30 days connecting one product initiative to a measurable GTM outcome. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/anakin.
