

PITCH DECK | AI-NATIVE MOBILE APP TESTING CO. CHIEF OF STAFF (GTM)

You need someone the founder can hand a GTM number to and get back a dashboard, a cadence and a result, not a status update. I already run a company that way.

Founder-grade GTM ownership plus the operating cadence and dashboard discipline this seat is built to run.

PriceKeel - founder and CEO, running GTM, CRM/CPQ and deal approvals end to end

$433M in margin gaps surfaced by a dashboard I built at Sensata

$700K+ of that closed in 2 quarters through cross-functional execution

8-person team hired and managed across 8 client P&Ls at Pixis

US and India operating experience

A founder's first Chief of Staff hire is not a reporting job. It is a bet that one person can run GTM execution end to end without being told how.

What the seat actually demands

Partner directly with the founder, then drive execution across sales, marketing, partnerships and operations: four functions that do not report to the Chief of Staff, moved by one owned number instead of four separate updates.

Analyze metrics and turn them into data-driven recommendations, with dashboards and an operating cadence that keep the founder's priorities visible between the big meetings, not just during them.

Own special projects from ideation to implementation: the role is judged on whether the project shipped, not on whether it was well scoped.

What I have already run, at founder scale

I run PriceKeel myself: GTM, product, CRM/CPQ, forecast and pipeline reviews, and deal approvals, with the investor-facing narrative for the round I am currently raising. Nobody assigned me that scope.

At Sensata, I built the dashboard that found $433M in margin gaps, then ran the cross-functional execution that turned $700K+ of it into recovered margin in 2 quarters.

At Applied Materials, I coordinate Sales, Engineering and Accounts on one market view while carrying P&L and revenue targets for the role.

The through-line across every role on my resume is the same one this posting describes: build the dashboard, run the cadence, coordinate the functions that do not report to you, and carry the project to a shipped result.

What the Chief of Staff (GTM) opening asks for, and where the proof sits.

What the role covers

- "Partner directly with the founder on strategic GTM initiatives."*
- "Drive execution across sales, marketing, partnerships, and operations."*
- "Analyze metrics and provide data-driven recommendations. Build dashboards and maintain operating cadences. Own special projects from ideation to implementation."*

My Proof

- PriceKeel, founder and CEO: direct founder-level partnership on every GTM, product and fundraising call, with no team to delegate to.
- Sensata Bleeders and Leakers dashboard: 1,200 pricing opportunities ranked against a $627M target, $433M in gaps surfaced, $700K+ closed in 2 quarters.
- Applied Materials today: cross-functional coordination across Sales, Engineering and Accounts, plus Claude-built AI agents automating the recurring reporting.
- SwipeHire: a special project run from ideation to implementation, zero-to-one on the OpenAI API, to 50+ early users.

Bleeders and Leakers: build the dashboard, run the cadence, ship the result.

Built as a BU-wide Power BI system covering 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions, 4 product families and 20 product lines, with pipeline funnel, win rate and stage distribution by salesperson and product line, maintained as the operating cadence leadership used every week.

$433M

Margin Gaps Surfaced

The dashboard's job: rank every opportunity so leadership could act on data, not on whichever account came up last in conversation.

$700K+

Margin Recovered in 2 Quarters

Closed through cross-functional execution with Sales and Finance, built on competitive gaps and documented customer willingness to pay.

53% to 61%

Distributor Margin Lift

Repriced the channel logic itself, so the gain outlived the first cycle instead of drifting back within a quarter.

Promoted from Product and Growth Marketing to Pricing Lead in 10 months on the strength of that program. The pattern: find the number, build the dashboard and cadence around fixing it, then carry it to a shipped result.

What the first month as this founder's Chief of Staff looks like.

WEEK 1 Map GTM end to end Sit with sales, marketing, partnerships and operations to hear where the GTM number is stuck, which special projects are already in flight, and what the founder actually needs reported weekly versus monthly. Why first: the same move that started the Bleeders and Leakers dashboard at Sensata. The gap is usually visible before anyone has framed it as one problem.	WEEK 2-3 Build the dashboard and the cadence Turn the GTM metrics into one dashboard, set the weekly operating cadence around it, and pick the first special project to run end to end alongside the functions that have to execute it. Why now: the dashboard came before the opinion at Sensata, and the fix held because the cadence around it did too.	WEEK 4 Ship the first special project Carry that first project from ideation to implementation, report the outcome against the dashboard, and hand the founder a repeatable process for the next one instead of a one-off fix. Why this fast: a Chief of Staff earns the mandate by shipping something the founder can point to, not by proposing a plan.

CLOSE

You are hiring someone to run GTM execution directly under the founder. I already run a company that way, and I have already shipped the dashboard-and-cadence version of it inside a much larger one.

The founder half of the proof is live today: PriceKeel, where I own GTM, CRM/CPQ and deal approvals end to end while raising the company's first round.

The dashboard-and-execution half is Sensata: $433M in margin gaps surfaced by a tool I built, with $700K+ recovered in 2 quarters once I ran the cross-functional execution it pointed to. I carry that same P&L and operating-cadence discipline today at Applied Materials, coordinating Sales, Engineering and Accounts the way this role will coordinate sales, marketing, partnerships and operations.
