Adithya Rokhith Bhaskar

San Francisco Bay Area, CA | arokhith@gmail.com | +1-929-563-9974

October 23, 2026

Hiring Team, Joveo

Your posting asks for someone who turns ambiguity into clarity before anyone hands them a framework to work from. That is what I did at Sensata on the Bleeders and Leakers program: a vague margin mandate with no existing dashboard, no model, nothing to start from. I built the analysis tool first, across 3 regions and 20 product lines against a $627M target, surfaced a $433M whitespace shortlist, then closed the loop by negotiating $700K+ back in two quarters. That sequence, build the clarity before you act, is the same muscle your "What You'll Do" list is describing.

I run that same muscle on myself now. I founded PriceKeel, a B2B SaaS deal pricing company, and built its CRM, CPQ, forecast-and-pipeline-review and deal-approval process alone, with pilots running and the first round in progress. Nobody on a team to split that with; every strategic call and every execution task is mine. If "founder's mindset" on your posting means think big, move fast, own it end to end, I am not approximating that, I am living it daily.

The AI-led half of your mandate is already part of my day job. At Applied Materials I turn Sales, Engineering and Accounts input into one market view and automate the repetitive side of competitive analysis with AI agents built on Claude, which is exactly the kind of efficiency play a company moving as fast as Joveo should want running across more of its own operations, not just mine.

I would want fifteen minutes to walk through how I would spend the first month mapping where today's cross-functional priorities are actually stuck, before proposing a single framework to move them. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/joveo.

Adithya Rokhith Bhaskar