PITCH DECK | MEOLAA FOUNDER'S OFFICE

A Founder's Office seat that asks for strategy, cross-functional execution and whitespace mapping in one hire needs someone who has already run all three, not three separate specialists.

A record of turning an unowned, ambiguous mandate into a shortlisted number, built running a company of my own and inside a multi-$100M business, with D2C e-commerce accounts on the side.

- Founder & CEO of PriceKeel, running investor relations, vendor negotiation and fundraising for its first round myself
- $700K+ / 2 quarters margin recovered off a whitespace shortlist I built at Sensata
- 1,200 opportunities / $627M target Bleeders and Leakers program across 3 regions, 20 product lines
- 8-person team / 8 D2C accounts hired, managed and turned around at Pixis, churn cut 50%
- $2M+ Year 1 revenue from a new-product GTM across North America and Europe

WHY THIS DECK EXISTS

A Founder's Office seat does not arrive with a clean lane. The job is picking the right whitespace each week, then closing it out with a number.

What that actually requires

Working directly with the Founders on strategic and operational priorities with no fixed scope, and owning a cross-functional project from problem definition straight through to execution.

Identifying whitespace opportunities across business verticals and building a framework to act on them, not just a slide that names the opportunity.

Acting as a force multiplier: carrying context across teams, removing blockers and closing open loops before they become someone else's problem.

What I have already run, at that exact layer

Took the Bleeders and Leakers program at Sensata from a vague mandate to a $433M whitespace shortlist and $700K+ recovered, negotiated directly with senior executives in 2 quarters.

Founded PriceKeel and run its investor relations, vendor negotiations and fundraising myself, with no team to hand any of it off to.

Carried the liaison role across regional, localization and analytics teams at GenY Medium, the same context-carrying a Founder's Office needs.

> The through-line: I have already mapped the whitespace, built the framework and closed the loop, before anyone called it a Founder's Office job.

THE REQ, MAPPED

What the Meolaa Founder's Office opening asks for, and where the proof already sits.

What the role covers

> Own and drive cross-functional projects from problem definition to execution.

> Identify whitespace opportunities across business verticals and build frameworks to act on them.

> Prepare materials for key meetings, investor conversations, and business reviews.

> Support hiring, vendor negotiations, partnerships, and new initiatives.

My proof

Cross-functional projects: led the Bleeders and Leakers program end to end at Sensata, from problem definition (a vague margin mandate) to a negotiated $700K+ outcome.

Whitespace mapping: built the FY2026 Power BI dashboard that turned 1,200 scattered opportunities into a $433M shortlist across 3 regions and 20 product lines.

Meeting and investor materials: writes PriceKeel's own investor updates and board materials, and runs the OKR and leadership-deck cadence at Applied Materials.

Hiring, vendor negotiation, partnerships: built PriceKeel's CRM, CPQ and deal-approval process from zero, negotiating directly with vendors; hired and managed teams at Pixis and Plug Power.

THE PROOF, IN DEPTH

Bleeders and Leakers: a vague margin mandate turned into a whitespace shortlist and a negotiated number.

Built as the owner of a program with no existing dashboard, no existing owner and no existing partner relationships, the same starting point a founder's "figure this out" priority usually looks like.

$433M / 1,200

Whitespace Shortlist Built

1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target, surfaced for leadership to prioritize by salesperson and product line.

$700K+ / 2Q

Margin Recovered

Negotiated from competitive gaps and customer willingness to pay, direct with senior executives.

53% to 61%

Partner Margin Lift

Built the distributor and channel-partner relationships that made repricing possible in under 2 quarters.

The same instinct runs through Pixis, where I ran it for a portfolio of D2C e-commerce clients and cut churn 50%, and through PriceKeel, where I build the dashboard, the partnership and the investor narrative myself as founder.

FIRST 30 DAYS

What the first month inside Meolaa's Founder's Office would look like.

WEEK 1

Sit inside the real whitespace

Talk to the Founders, category leads and finance to find where a whitespace opportunity, an investor update or a business review is stalling today, the same audit that grounded the Bleeders and Leakers program before a dashboard existed.

Why first: a cross-domain mandate built on assumptions instead of real blockers is the fastest way to miss the mark.

WEEK 2-3

Ship the first framework

Take one cross-functional project, whether a whitespace opportunity to frame, a vendor negotiation to close or an investor brief to draft, and turn it into a decision-ready recommendation, the same move that turned 1,200 opportunities into one shortlist at Sensata.

Why now: one measured recommendation that moves a real decision beats a week-one list of ideas.

WEEK 4

Turn the first win into the cadence

Use what the first deliverable proved to set the recurring rhythm, be it a business-review checkpoint, an investor-update cadence or a vendor-renewal process, that keeps producing results without rebuilding it from scratch every cycle.

Why this fast: a cadence only earns trust once it has already moved one real decision.

CLOSE

Meolaa needs someone who treats this seat as four live domains, strategy, cross-functional execution, whitespace mapping and investor and business-review materials, not one job description. I have already run all four.

The core proof is Sensata and PriceKeel together: a $700K+ margin program built on a whitespace shortlist, and a company of my own where I run investor relations, vendor negotiations and fundraising while building the CRM, CPQ and deal-approval process myself.

What is harder to find is someone who has done that inside a large, multi-region business and on the D2C e-commerce side at Pixis, cutting churn 50% across 8 client accounts, with the same discipline of turning ambiguity into a framework, a partnership or a negotiated number. That combination is what a Founder's Office needs most.
