Hiring Team, Uni Seoul

I founded PriceKeel, a decision-integrity layer for B2B SaaS deal pricing, and I run every part of it myself: the product, the CRM and CPQ stack, the pilots now live with early customers, and the first funding round I am raising alongside them. Your posting is looking for someone who has already carried that kind of ownership, not watched it from the sidelines, and that is the seat I have been sitting in since May.

Founder's office work is cross-functional by nature, and mine has been too. At Sensata I built the Bleeders and Leakers program end to end: a Power BI system ranking 1,200 pricing opportunities against a $627M target across 3 regions and 20 product lines, which surfaced $433M in margin gaps and closed $700K+ of that in two quarters through direct negotiation with Sales and Finance. I ran that alongside a second initiative, the AP26 revenue models, the same two-to-three-projects-at-once load your posting describes.

The retail and D2C side is not new to me either. At Pixis I ran an 8-client D2C portfolio with per-client budgets of $15K to $90K a month, carrying the P&L for that book and cutting churn 50% through retail media and account strategy. Before that, at GenY Medium, I rebuilt the product feeds behind D2C e-commerce brands and pushed one to 16x ROAS. I also automate the repetitive research behind this work with Claude agents, which is the kind of AI fluency a lean founder's office can put to use immediately.

What I would bring to this seat is the habit of owning a number end to end, from the board deck down to the dashboard that tracks it, and the operating cadence (OKRs, weekly and quarterly reviews) that keeps that ownership visible to the founders.
