Hiring Team, Joveo

Your posting calls this seat the connective tissue between strategy and execution, and that is close to the literal job I ran at Sensata on the Bleeders and Leakers program. A vague margin mandate turned, through deep-dive analysis across 3 regions and 20 product lines, into a $433M whitespace shortlist and then $700K+ recovered in two quarters, negotiated directly with senior executives. Nobody handed me a dashboard or a framework for that work; I built both before I could act on either.

The founder's mindset your posting asks for is not an aspiration for me, it is the job I do every day at PriceKeel, the B2B SaaS deal pricing company I founded and run. I built its CRM, CPQ, forecast-and-pipeline-review and deal-approval process from zero, run pilots with early customers, and am raising its first round myself, with no team to hand any piece of that to.

AI-led growth is the other half of your posting, and I am already running that loop today. At Applied Materials I turn Sales, Engineering and Accounts input into one market-sizing view, carry P&L targets through weekly and quarterly OKR reviews, and automate the repetitive side of market and competitive analysis with AI agents built on Claude. That is the exact mix the role asks for: structured thinking paired with real curiosity about where AI actually moves the work forward.

I would want fifteen minutes to walk through how I would spend the first month as a strategic extension of the CXO, starting with mapping where today's cross-functional priorities are actually stuck before proposing a single framework. Proof trail at adhithyabhaskar.vercel.app/ref/joveo.
